MONESSEN SOLDIER FELL IN BATTLE BESIDE COMRADES WITH WHOM HE TOILED

The following story was written by one member of a party of soldiers who enlisted with Joseph Stonage of Monessen, and who went in training with him and fought through the war until all were either enjured or killed. Joseph Stonage fell in battle October 14. The boys who enlisted were all employed in a tin mill at Gary, Indiana, and the story was written by one of the number while convalescing in a hopital and is reproduced here from a Gary paper.

Lying side by side in a French hospital. Corporals Frank ("Whitey") Connors and Lew Scales, Tin Mill boys who volunteered from Gary almost a year ago and have seen five months of actual fighting, compare notes of the war and find honors exactly even. Connors and Scales have been together continuously since leaving their "home town" and on or about October 15 they fell at the same time, wounded by German machine gun fire.

In a letter received this morning by Charley Murphy, Corporal Scales tells some interesting experiences of trench life. Corporals J. Mitchell and Stonage, two other members of the Tin Mill party, are also with the command. he writes, although they have fared slightly better in that they escaped without wounds. All four of the boys have been with this company since being mustered in at a southern training camp and they have enjoyed it immensely. Strangely enough, they have received similar promotions, all ranking corporals.

"It is a strenuous life we lead over here," Corporal Scales writes. "It is up to us to catch up with the fleeing "Heinies" and as they are ever on the run, sometimes it is hard work The Fritzies leave when we arrive and they keep going.

"Occasionally the Yanks close in on them, and then it is that we have to fight. Cornered, the Huns turned and do battle, and it was in one of these frays that 'Whitey' and I received our wounds Machine-gun fire got us and we fell at about the same time.

"After chasing the enemy for some distance and having gained, they set up a quick defense, sending a machine gun fire into our ranks I was caught in the head, while 'Whitey' fell with a wound in his body. We were carried to the hopital by amoulances operating together and placed in the same hospital ward.

"Our wounds are not of a serious

BRITISH DAY TO BE OBSERVED TOMORROW

Tomorrow has been designated as British Day all over the United States, when all loyal citizens are expected to decorate their homes and display the allied flags of all the nations who fought against German autocracy and tyranny. Let all people remember and show themselves loyal to the great cause of universal liberty for which the best of our American boys fought and died.

"ACRES OF DIAMONDS RIGHT AT HOME," SAYS LECTURER. DO SOMETHING FOR YOUR TOWN

If you are one of that class of citizens that has faith in the future of Monessen, and if you were present to hear the lecture of Dr. Conwell last night, today you are a better citizen. No person who sat in the that vast auditorium last night permitted the good things to pass by without making personal application. The lecture was a treat. It was brimful of instructions and good things and truths spoken were forcefully illustrated by humor.

For sixty years this man has been a lecturer. He has spent his life traveling about the country studying and thinking and applying his knowledge for the edification of humankind His lecture subject is "Acres of Diamonds," and while a minister of the gospel, the doctor is not averse to money making. He goes upon the theory that if a man has one talent he has a divine right to make it ten. He illustrated and proved his illustration, that those who succeed in life are not the ones born with a silver spoon in their mouths, but on the contrary those who succeed most are the ones who haven't money enough in youth to furnish the much coveted Christmas gift, but have to carve it out of the raw stuff. He spoke of manhood and womanhood, and the ingenuity, talent and invention of both sexes. He paid a high compliment to the great women of the nation as well as to the men.

And best of all he preached loyalty all the way through his lecture. If you can be great anywhere in the world, the opportunities are more than equal in the home town. "A man who has been in business here 20 years and has only accumulated $1,000 should have been kicked off the street 19 years ago" he said. Every man has a right to a profit for his talents and his labors. he said, and the fellow who continuously robs his own town of dollars and influence and does nothing for either his neighbors or neighborhood is worse than worthless. for he takes up good space that could be utilized by a live wire citizen

Ten thousand people should have heard the lecture. All of those people who work in Monessen and use their influence against it, and talk about the high prices here, and the ill advantages, should have had reserved seats. The man who makes his money in Monessen and won't do a thing to help to make the town a better place in which to live is worse than worthless in so far as Monessen is concerned. So true and so gospel true is this that the man who is planning for peace time prosperity for Monessen, and happy homes and low taxes and better commercial and industrial conditions couldn't help but think. If he ever thought in his life he thought after he went home last night. Every man who toils here has

JAS. F. TAYLOR REPORTED AS MISSING

Miss Stella Taylor of the Wright furniture store, received a telegram last night from the war department at Washington, D.C., stating that Private James F. Taylor, her brother, has been missing since Nov. 1st. The message stated that further information would be forwarded later.

Private Taylor is proprietor of the Taylor news stand on Donner avenue. He was in the drafted list and left Monessen February 21 for Camp Lee where he remained only three weeks when he was sent to Camp Hancock, Ga., and attached to Co. G, 118th Regiment, 111th Infantry. He was in Camp Hancock about one month when he was sent overseas.

He was one of the 600 soldiers sent to Camp Hancock to fill up tre quota of the famous old "Eighteenth."

Private Taylor has many friends in Monessen who will regret the above news, but hopes are still entertained that he may possibly have been taken prisoner, and that he will soon be among the list of prisoners liberated from German prisons.

INCREASE FOOD PRODUCTION

The state of Indiana showed how to relieve the food shortage this year by increasing its crop of wheat 64 per cent. Of this 25 per cent. was due to increased acreage. No doubt employment agency work and efforts of business men to supply needed labor also helped. But better farming methods are credited with the principal gain. In a year when so many of the young men have been called away from the farms, this result was remarkable.

It shows what can be done by organization and science. The secret of an ample food supply is correct farm methods, following the latest and most practical results of scientific research. When our farmers all set out to apply modern scientific methods to their lands, the food supply will be sufficient. The farmer who is too old to go to school and college should have the results of scientific investigation brought to his home, so that he can thoroughly understand how to handle his soil.

OLD CLOTHES

The people who have cast off clothing to dispose of will find a great demand for it this year. There is not as much poverty as usual in this country, so that the home needs will not probably be as great as usual. But we must remember how many millions of people in Europe are suffering for lack of clothing. Many have lost their homes. In a great many others the wage earner has been killed. It does not seem desirable in these times, unless people are very hard up, to sell their old clothes to second hand dealers, to be resold to the poor at a good profit. The amount that can thus be realized is always small. The satisfaction of giving them direct to some good relief agency is worth more than the trifle they will bring. While substantial garments have been getting moth eaten in our closets, millions of people need just these things.

ASK THE SOLDIERS.

That the soldiers, sailors and marines are deeply appreciative of the canteen service of the American Red Cross is given ample evidence many times every day. The keynote of their appreciation is perhaps best expressed on the post cards which they send to the "folks back home" when en route to points of embarkation. From a dozen picked up at random the following sentiments were taken and "speak for themselves:"

"Red Cross are sure treating us great en route."

"Red Cross are sure making it happy for us."

"Support Red Cross in everything."

"For God's sake never say 'No' to the Red Cross. They're wonderful."

"Long live the Red Cross."

"The Red Cross are angels to us the way they treat us"

"Canteen service 100 per cent. in Toledo; fifteen carloads of us well taken care of."

"Red Cross serving coffee. Oh, they do so much for us!'

"Do all you can for Red Cross—they do so much for us."

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel — are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that "all in" feeling come from constipation and disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and [illegible] Note how they "clear" clouded [illegible] and how they "perk up" the spirits. [illegible] 35c a box All druggists.

Such Women Just Have to "Give Up"

"Man may work from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done." That's why women are overworked, nervous, all run down, no appetite, and can "hardly drag around." Vinol creates a hearty appetite, strengthens the digestive organs, induces sound sleep, invigorates the nerves, and in this natural manner creates working strength.

Narragansett Pier, R.I.

"I was all run-down, back ached, and tired all the time. I keep house for my husband and four children and could hardly keep around. Finally I tried Vinol and it has restored my health and helped me wonderfully, so I recommend it to others who are in this condition." Mrs. Hannah Randall.

Jacksonville, Ill.

"I keep house for my little family, but got into a weak, nervous, rundown condition, tired all the time and no ambition. My doctor told me to try Vinol, and in a week I felt like a new person. I am now strong again, look after my baby, and do all my housework."—Mrs. G. H. Lamson.

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol

ATHLETIC IS GLAD TO GET HOME

Percy Smallwood, former long-distance running champion, who enlisted shortly after the war broke out as a physical director, and who was assigned to the Camp Meade staff at Admiral, Md, has just been given his honorary discharge by the war department. He arrived at his home in Pittsburgh this week

"I had charge of several of the various athletic teams at Camp Meade," said Smallwood, and we had things going nicely until the war came to an end. After that it was almost impossible to keep the boys together. Everybody wanted to get home as quickly as possible"

While at Camp Meade, Smallwood won several middle-distance events He was nominated by his commanding officer, General Carter, to carry a message to the mayor of Baltimore on November 9, the opening of the big war charities drive, and, clad in running costume, covered the 18½ miles in 2 hours, 4 minutes, a record for that distance

"I don't know what I'll do now," vouchsafed Smallwood. "I'll have to land a job somewhere I certainly did enjoy my work at Camp Meade, and am only sorry that I could not have done more to help beat the Fritzies"

Smallwood is a native-born Englishman, but has made Pittsburgh his home for narly 10 years. He is popular and his friends are legion

BIG CAUSUALTY LIST TO COME

Uniontown, Pa., Dec 4—That the American losses were heavy during 12 hours preceeding the cessation of hostilities is indicated in a letter written by First Lieut A. R Springer to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R R Springer of this city.

Lieutenant Springer writes that in accomplishing in 12 hours' fighting what was set for 72 hours "we" lost heavily, the wounded and gassed soldiers pouring into hospitals in streams

The last offensive began on November 9 and ended at 10 45 a m. on November 11, according to the officer's letter. He states that many casualties may be expected to be reported for November 9, 10 and 11.

The following is handed to us by Capt Smiley of the local Salvation Army Corps, which gives a good idea of what some of the American boys passed through while pushing the German army back from French soil:

"How is this for bravery? A major of the ——Regiment was between the two lines, injured, and volunteers were asked for who would go out after him. Pat McManus, Brady and Taylor (from near Uniontown), went after him Taylor got back with the Major who unfortunately soon died, and then went back and carried in McManus Brady and was also injured but able to get back to his own lines Taylor made both these trips under heavy machine gun fire When he got back he had three bullet holes through his canteen and his neck was grazed by a rifle bullet

FIRST WARD MAN WAS IN DANGER OF SERIOUS ILLNESS

To Aid Fellow Sufferers, James Duffy Tells How Ten-Herbs Relieved Him

Little do we realize to what extent a seemingly light illness might lead if neglected.

Take the case of Mr James Duffy, of No. 747 Reedsdale street, Pittsburgh, Pa., a boiler-maker by trade, an a well known member of the union He had a host of friends in that city, having been a police officer in the First ward for a number of years He states:

"For a number of years I have had catarrh of the tomach and was in constant pain, had shortness of breath, acidity of the stomach, headaches, dizzy spells and severe pains around my heart, caused by gas in my system; I was always constipated, my liver was torpid and sluggish; I could never sleep at night and at times I could scarcely get my breath I had taken a good many different medicines without any relief until I heard of Ten-Herbs and started to take it Now I am glad to say I have no more indigestion—have a good appetite, sleep fine and am not constipated I feel that by taking Ten-Herbs in time I avoided a serious illness, as I was gradually getting worse all the time I can't praise Ten-Herbs enough"

Ten-Herbs, the new herbal stomach, liver and kidney remedy, is perhaps doing more to relieve ills of this nature than any other preparation. It is the logical remedy to take, because being made of herbs, roots, barks and berries, it is pure and harmless, and may be taken by old and young Coming from mother earth, it is nature's own remedy—the kind our forefathers used to take.

nature, and if the 'Heinies' do not show the white flag, we may be able to return and give them another dose. I am afraid, however, that they will quit before long, and we may have to chase them to Berlin. Its a long way and the hiking is not of the best."

The quartet of Tin mill experts identified with this command were members of a party of recruits volunteering from the local plant. Ten or twelve of them, all employed in the same department and "cronies" enlisted here together. Joseph Stonage, formerly of Monessen, Scales, Connors and Mitchell were detailed with the same squadron in training and were allowed to remain together until the war was declared over. Others of the party were at different locations, the majority of them, however being in France.

At the time of writing Scales had no idea how true his prophesy that the Huns might quit would prove. When he wrote from the French hospital the battle was still raging and, as far as he could tell, would continue. His experience on the front convinced him that the Germans were about ready to quit.

Like all other American boys, the Tin mill fellows are ready to return to their native soil as soon as the order is given. Now that the war is at an end they wish to "get back into working clothes," although Corporal Scales writes that he expects to visit some of the principal French cities before returning.

ACRES OF DIAMONDS

a right to thunk that this is the best town in the broad land, every man who has interests here of any kind has a right to help to pull back to Monessen the steady influence that has been going out as surely as the day gives out sunlight. Every man at the head of a Monessen mill owes his influenc to this town as surely as he owes his love to those he shelters under his own roof.

Loyalty was the text of the lecture. "Acres of Diamonds" at home uncultivated. and people roaming around the world looking for gold. Getting up from ledges of gold and selling them fof a song price. taking the money and traveling over the world in search of diamonds. If the heads of our mills. if the business men. if the profesional men. if the toilers. if the newspapers. if the churches and schools and every other influence would determine to throw that great power to building a better city here, to making it more beautiful, to trading at home. Monessen in a few months would have a population of 50,000 with the finest schools. the greatest churches. the handsomest stores and the biggest newspapers of any other town in these regions. All of this suggestion came out of this lecture last night.

If you are a citizen here. even a transient citizens. you owe this town something Some people may go about from day to day thinking the war is over and there is nothing much to do now but run individual business or keep the job going.but this is a mistake The town never demanded more of its citizens There must be some peace time adjustments here as well as in the nation. With the adjustment period comes a responsibility for the home town. Let us look after the "Acres of Diamonds" under our own feet. Loyalty to Monessen.

INSTITUTE

There were more present at Thursday's sessions of the Institute than at any other time during the week. There were visitors from California, Belle Vernon. Charleroi and Monongahela.

The program opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. W. S. Carson. The first address was by Mr. Wright on a "A New Type of Civic Education." He said that we must train the child to be what we wish the adult to be. Training for a league of nations must be done in the primary school. Civic consciousness must be developed in the child before he has become warped with selfishness. All must be taught to serve the community. Two of the biggest words in meaning are we and ours. The ethical, moral and economical life has to be built over for each generation Why not do it each time in a new and better way? Each American should be conscripted into an army for civic service.

Civics, as it has been taught in our schools is too far removed from the interests of the children. Civics should start the first day of the child's school life and should not stop until the last day. It should begin with the community and extend to include all. Teach cleanliness as a civic act. It is just as civic to be courteous and polite as it is to vote. It is just as civic to perform well the duties of president of the class or treasurer of the athletic association as it is to be mayor or treasurer of the commonwealth.

In the afternoon Mr. Wright spoke about the public school and the Americanization program. To Americanize the foreigner he must learn the English language. No one can become a true American until he learns to speak. read and write the English language. Foreign people believe in the efficacy of the public schools and the Americanization of them is a problem that the public school must solve.

In his morning address Dr. Ferris spoke on "A Phase of Human Nature." He said that there were three types of people, motor, vital and mental. Primitive man was distinctly of the motor type. He had to be because his existence depended upon it. In this type, bone, muscle and tendon predominated. Men belonging to this type possess determination. courage and self reliance. Our laborers. football players. aviators, organizers belong principally to this type.

The vital type are characterized by roundness of features. small hands and small feet. They are of a joyful nature. benevolent and polite. The traveling salesman is a typical example of this type.

The mental type are characterized by large forehead. and this type possesses less physical strength and endurance than the motor type. In this type the nervous system predominates People of this class are high strung and sentimental artists. poets and literary men belong to this type.

It is necessary for the successful teacher to make a study of the temperament of her pupils and to deal with them accordingly.

In the afternoon Dr. Ferris spoke on the subject "One Thing Worth While." He said that two things given us are our physical and mental inheritance and our social inheritance. It is the duty of the teacher to discover the power and ability of her pupils; these are often latent. The exceptional boy and girl should be discovered for leaders. The most efficient teacher should be in the primary grades. This is the time to start the pupil in the correct development of his powers. Ability and talent will not always come out unless it is discovered and brought out. He said that the majority of us have not used more than ten per cent. of our mental ability.

His advice was "Teachers be on the Alert"

In the afternoon Dr. Russell H. Conwell spoke on the importance of teaching observation. He spoke about noted men, among them Lincoln, Longfellow and Holmes, as illustrative of the importance of having a keen power of observation. One reason why these men were great was because they observed better than the ordinary person.

In the evening Dr. Conwell spoke to a large audience on the subject "Acres of Diamonds." This was the 5672nd time that he has given this lecture.

The idea that he brings out is that there are opportunities for success right at home. It is a mistaken idea that we could be successful if we were away in some other place where there are more chances and opportunities. The one who is not successful where he is, is not likely to be successful anywhere.

The selfish man cannot be successful. It is only the person who considers the welfare of others who meets with success himself. This was a great lecture and no doubt it will be an inspiration to many to live better and more useful lives.
